Policy Summary:

Remote Service allows employees to work at home, on the road or in a satellite location for all or part of their workweek. Jackson College considers remote service to be a viable, flexible work option when both the employee and the job are suited to such an arrangement during the COVID-19 Pandemic. Remote Service may be appropriate for some employees and jobs but not for others. Remote Service is not an entitlement, it is not a collegewide benefit, and it in no way changes the terms and conditions of employment with Jackson College.

Policy Scope:

This policy applies to all Jackson College employees conducting work off campus.

Policy Statement:

Remote Service can be informal, such as working from home for a short-term project or on the road during business travel, or a formal, set schedule of working away from the office as described below.

Any remote service arrangement made will be on temporary basis and may be discontinued at will and at any time based on the state of the pandemic and the nature of the work. Every effort will be made to provide 30 days’ notice of such change to accommodate commuting, childcare and other issues that may arise from the termination of a remote service arrangement.

The employee and manager, with the assistance of the human resource department, will evaluate the suitability of such an arrangement, reviewing the following areas:
• Employee suitability. The employee and manager will assess the needs and work habits of the employee, compared to traits customarily recognized as appropriate for successful remote service.

• Job responsibilities. The employee and manager will discuss the job responsibilities and determine if the job is appropriate for a telecommuting arrangement. There may be certain times of the academic year, special events or change in assignment that may require employees to report to campus during previously agreed upon teleworking hours. These situations will be discussed between the employee and supervisor prior to the work being scheduled.

An appropriate level of communication between the employee and supervisor will be agreed to as part of the discussion process. The manager and telecommuter will communicate at a level consistent with employees working at the office or in a manner and frequency that is appropriate for the job and the individuals involved.

Equipment

Employees may only have one primary office location, where the equipment is to be installed.

The employee will establish an appropriate work environment within his or her home for work purposes, if deemed appropriate for the job. Jackson College will not be responsible for costs associated with the setup of the employee’s home office, such as remodeling, furniture, or lighting, nor for repairs or modifications to the home office space.

Time Worked

Remote employees who are not exempt from the overtime requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act will be required to accurately record all hours worked using Jackson College’s time-keeping system. Hours worked in excess of those scheduled per day and per workweek require the advance approval of the telecommuter’s supervisor. Work hours outside of the normal work week schedule should be agreed upon in advance. Hours worked from a remote location must be approved prior to being worked. Failure to comply with these requirements may result in the immediate termination of the telecommuting agreement. Time off, breaks and time reporting are to follow those in the labor agreements.

Security

Consistent with the organization’s expectations of information security for employees working at the office, telecommuting employees will be expected to ensure the protection of proprietary college and customer information accessible from their home office. Steps include the use of locked file cabinets and desks, regular password maintenance, and any other measures appropriate for the job and the environment. All employees who will be working from home must also complete an office ergonomics training. The training will cover proper workspace arrangements, techniques to improve posture and other measure that can reduce the occurrence of cumulative trauma disorder (CTD).
