Office Responsible:	Financial Aid
Related Laws:	Title IV of the Higher Education act of 1965

Policy Summary:

Institutions that participate in student financial assistance programs authorized under Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended (the HEA), are required to obtain Title IV approval from the Department of Education for programs that lead to Gainful Employment (GE). .

Definitions:

Secretary – the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Education

GE Program – is a non-degree program, including all certificate programs. Note: the awarding of one or more certificates as part of a degree program does not create GE programs.

When an additional program is a program:

With a Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) code that is different from any other programs offered by the institution.

Has the same CIP code as another program but leads to a different degree or certificate; or
The institution's accrediting agency has determined to be an additional program.

Policy Statement:

JC shall establish and assure compliance with GE program requirements through cross-referencing the CIP code of the program to make sure there is a corresponding Standard Occupation Code (SOC). JC designated personnel shall establish procedures to address requirements for program approval. The responsibilities for developing a new program are assigned as follows:

Approval for new GE Programs	Chief Academic and Student Services Officer
Accrediting Agency Approval	Registrar
Program Information	Registrar
Department of Education Approval	Director of Financial Aid
