

Chad Noble

Class of 1981

- Born at W. A. Foote Memorial Hospital. Attended Jackson Public Schools and graduated from Jackson Community College and Spring Arbor University. He can't imagine living anywhere else. "I've been privileged to spend my entire life with the people of this community. Jackson is a wonderful place to live, it's close to larger cities, and is comfortable to come home to after traveling."
- Attended college at his mother's insistence. Appreciates her unconditional love, common sense and unfailing confidence in his ability.
- Director of Corporate Accounts Management and Governmental Affairs for Allegiance Health and enjoys his work. "The hospital in every community serves an important role. Although I'm not in direct patient care, I am honored to represent those who are. Being part of something larger than myself that truly helps others is very rewarding." Duties include communication with area businesses and elected officials who provide revenue to Allegiance Health. Meets the needs of employers and elected officials and enables them to use and support Allegiance Health.
- Has been married to wife Vicki since 1988 and has two sons, Corey and David. When he's not working, Chad enjoys reading, camping, traveling and quiet time at home. "I have a job I love, a wife who loves me and two healthy children. Life is good!"

"God has placed people and opportunities in my path in order that I might grow."
