

Emily Mast

Class of 2018

- Emily Mast enrolled in the Jackson Preparatory Early College at age 14 and earned her Associate of Arts degree from Jackson College at age 16, graduating with a perfect 4.0 GPA.
- She continued her education at Purdue University, earning her bachelor's degree in professional writing.
- While at Jackson College, she was a founding member of the Jackson College Heritage Center. Mentored by Professor Diana Agy, she contributed to the Heritage Center's first two documentary projects, an experience she credits as the most impactful of her academic and professional life.
- Currently, she serves as the Channel Marketing Manager for Crexendo, a fast-growing North American company where she earned the Telarus Coin of Excellence and Channel Marketing Association Rising Star Award. Formerly, she served as the Manager of Marketing at GlobalHealth.
- Serves as a member of the Jackson College Alumni Advisory Committee as an active alumna, ambassador, and volunteer for Jackson College and deeply credits the College as foundational to her leadership and success.
- She is the Founder of Big Sister Advantage – supporting and empowering women in the workplace.
- She serves as the Inaugural Board Member and Director of Marketing & Communications for Young Channel Leaders.
- Prominent figure in the pageant community; titles include Miss Jackson County Teen USA, Pure International Miss.
- Michigan Representative at the International United Miss scholarship pageant.
- Recognized for professional excellence, leadership, and community impact.

Guiding mantra: You control every thought, action, and outcome in your life.